

Teaching Activities

Teaching activities include:

Lecturing, facilitating small groups, instructing in laboratories, and other forms of participation in formal courses for medical and graduate students.

Directing formal courses for medical and graduate students.

Supervision of graduate student and postdoctoral research programs.

Teaching and supervising sabbatical faculty

Mentoring of junior faculty and peers.

Clinical teaching of medical students and residents or fellows.

Participation in continuing medical education programs.

Development of teaching materials, in print or electronic media.

Development of courses and curricula.

Education for the public at large.

Education of graduate students.

Excellent

- Favorable evaluations by students or residents, as part of a systematic evaluation program.
- Favorable evaluations by peers, as part of a systematic evaluation program.
- Favorable evaluations of courses and curricula, as part of a systematic evaluation program.
- Favorable performance data for students or residents, where these can be attributed largely to the individual faculty member.

Outstanding

- Outstanding evaluations by students or residents, as part of a systematic evaluation program.
- Outstanding evaluations by peers, as part of a systematic evaluation program.
- Outstanding evaluations of courses and curricula, as part of a systematic evaluation program.
- Outstanding performance data for students or residents, where these

- Educational presentations or workshops at meetings of national/international professional societies.
- Favorable evaluation by faculty mentored by the candidate.

can be attributed largely to the individual faculty member.

- Leadership role in educational activities of national/international professional societies.
- Teaching awards from students or peers.
- Publication of teaching materials in peer-reviewed repositories.
- National/international use of teaching materials.
- Visiting professorships.